DETAILED ACTION

Receipt of applicants remarks submitted December 29, 2003 is acknowledged.

Double Patenting Rejections

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970);and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 10-19, 24-34 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 2, 3 and 8-22 of U.S. Patent No. 6,524,527 for reasons set forth in the prior office action.

Claim Rejections 35 U.S.C. §103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-5, 7-19, 24-35 and 37-~~39~~ 40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over both Cook et al. (U.S. Patent 5,760,082, IDS) and Lievense et al. (U.S. patent 6,159,525) in view of Cain et al. (WO 97/18320, IDS) for reasons set forth in the prior office action. Newly added claim 40 is properly rejected over the cited prior art, since CLA is known to be the active ingredient, one of ordinary skill I the art would have been motivated to make a high pure CLA composition, such as 80% pure.

Response to the Arguments

Applicants' remarks submitted December 29, 2003 have been fully considered, but are not persuasive as discussed below.

3. Applicants contend that since the cited references silent about the content of VOC in the composition, the claimed invention, which particularly recite a limitation of VOC is not obvious over the cited prior art. Applicants' arguments are not convincing. Note, the factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

In the instant case, applicants fail to address the third aspect, "resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art." The examiner asserts that one of ordinary skill in the art of food would have understand that VOC are those components should be limited in amount in food product. The examiner further contends that the cited references are silent with respect of VOC not because they have not recognized that VOC should be limited in food products, but because this is well known in the art.

Applicants' assertion that production of CLA would necessarily involve the employment of hexane is not true. As noted by Cook, there are many ways to produce CLA, including isomerization or linoleic acid through microorganism (see column. 2 and 3). Therefore, first, there is no reasons to assert that every CLA composition before the claimed invention was made contains more VOC than herein claimed; second, even if a composition contains VOC, there is no reasons why one of ordinary skill in the art would have not made effort to remove these non-food ingredients.

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
